TD3.1. Green and Walkable: Designing Cooler, Healthier Streets

11:00 - 12:30 Wednesday, 8th October, 2025 | Location: Green cube

Discover how integrating greenery into walking environments can create healthier, more comfortable and more climate-resilient communities. This session explores innovative approaches such as green mobility rings, redesigning neighbourhood streets, new methods for assessing the quality of green space, and evidence on how urban form affects outdoor thermal comfort. Case studies from Germany, Canada, Slovenia and Albania illustrate the value of combining natural elements with pedestrian-friendly design to foster cooler, more liveable streets.

Presentation Type

Topical Discussions are a set of oral presentations in a moderated session to illuminate different perspectives and experiences on the same topic. The presentations will provide the framework for the subsequent discussion and debate.

Your session is scheduled as indicated in the programme.

Session length: 90 minutes.
